Introduction
Thematic Real Work Lectures (KKNT) are intracurricular courses organized by academics in all universities which all students must take with the aim of improving students' abilities and insight as a means of living in society after graduating from their studies. Basically, Thematic Real Work Lectures (KKNT) are a form of real implementation of the Tridharma of Higher Education for institutions, lecturers and students to the community. After students receive lecture material from lecturers which can always be useful in the community itself. Apart from that, improving facilities and infrastructure is an activity carried out as well as a work program for students. In other words, through KKNT, students help development in society.
In improving the quality of people's lives, performance must be pursued continuously, namely by implementing various development models and patterns. Therefore, both as a group and individually, in this KKNT students observe carefully what problems and potential they have society by conducting research on every sector of social life.

Payadapur is a village in East Kluet District, South Aceh Regency, Aceh, Indonesia. Payadapur Village is located approximately 1.1 kilometers from the center of East Kluet District, and 44 kilometers from the center of East Kluet Regency. This village is divided into 4 hamlets with a population of more than 1,700 people.

Formally, KKNT is a form of community service activity by students which lasts for two weeks and is located in village-level areas. The preparations for the KKNT program in Payadapur Village, East Kluet, South Aceh will be described as follows: 1. Location preparation, namely by conducting a survey of the village that will be intended to carry out KKNT activities a few days before departure, so that you can find out the conditions that will be faced during the two next week. 2. Preparation for personal needs and group preparation, namely by establishing good relationships between groups. 3. Preparation of budget or costs. Implementing KKNT certainly requires costs. In general, costs can be mapped into two things, personal costs in the form of contributions and group costs obtained from donations. 4. Preparation of the activity program, after finding the problem that you want to intervene in, the next step is to design the group work program into a coherent plan. Determining activities needs to consider student human resources and local community participation. As previous literature, the author includes research on strengthening literacy carried out by researchers Theresia, et al., researchers Rizky Putri, et al., researchers Mualimin, et al., the difference between this research and previous research is the focus of the programs implemented on the Islamic religion. and apart from that, it is also necessary to look at regional potential that can be optimized. In the KKNT activity program in Payadapur Village, East Kluet, South Aceh there are learning activities, sharing free takjil, breaking fast together with the community, competitions and distribution of prizes and souvenirs, so all of these activities require careful preparation, and are carried out as well as supplies provided by the organizing committee. This KKNT program. The scheduled programs are listed in the following table:

Community service in this research uses the Participatory Action Research (PAR) method, an approach whose process aims at learning in overcoming problems and meeting the practical needs of society, as well as the production of knowledge1, and the process of socio-religious change. Therefore, this approach is a means of raising collective critical awareness of the shackles of the ideology of neoliberal globalization and the shackles of normative religious paradigms that hinder the process of socio-religious transformation. Community service with this approach can be said to be Transformative Community Service. This is because it is a research process oriented towards empowerment and change. This argument is based on the fact that a transformative research process means: A process of growing the power and abilities of poor/weak, marginalized and oppressed groups of people. Process of, by and for society. The position of the community is to be accompanied/facilitated in making decisions and taking initiatives to be more independent in developing the quality of their life. Place society and its institutions as a basic force for economic, political, social, cultural and religious improvement. Efforts to release various forms of cultural domination, political pressure, economic exploitation, and the hegemony of religious institutions that shackle and hinder people's efforts to determine their way of life and improve the quality of their life. This research choice aimed at social transformation, a term more familiar with PAR, is used, namely process research is carried out with systematic, collaborative and sustainable efforts in order to create social transformation 7.

The Al-Quran Memorizing Deposit Program is an initiative or activity designed to help individuals, especially students, memorize the Al-Quran. This program is usually organized by educational institutions, mosques, or religious organizations with the aim of motivating and facilitating participants to memorize verses of the holy Qur’an systematically and regularly. The following are several main components that are often present in Al-Quran memorization programs: Guide or Teacher: There is a guide or teacher who will monitor and guide the memorization process. They usually have in-depth knowledge of the Qur’an and effective memorization methods. Regular Schedule: This program has a regular schedule where participants must deposit their memorization to the supervisor. This can be done every day, several times a week, or according to a set schedule. Memorization Targets: Programs usually set memorization targets that participants must achieve within a certain period. Evaluation and Exams: There are regular evaluations to assess participants' memorization progress. Memorization exams or tests may be carried out to ensure the quality of memorization. Motivation and Rewards: To motivate participants, there is often a reward system for those who achieve memorization targets or show significant progress. Additional Support: The program can be supplemented with additional materials such as tafsir verses, effective memorization methods, and psychological support to maintain participant motivation. The Qur’an memorization program not only aims to improve the ability to memorize the Qur’an, but also to instill spiritual values, discipline and other virtues in participants' daily lives.

The Murajaah Memorizing Program 1 Juz is the process of repeating memorizing the Qur’an that has been studied previously to ensure that the memorization remains strong and is not forgotten. Murajaah is very important for memorizing the Qur’an because memorization that is not repeated tends to quickly disappear from memory. Here are some steps and tips for doing murajaah memorizing 1 juz effectively. Routine Scheduling: Determine a specific time every day to do murajaah. Consistency is key, so try to spend the same amount of time each day to maintain discipline. Memorization Segmentation: Divide memorization of 1 juz into several small parts (for example, each page or several verses). Repeat one small section many times until you completely memorize it before moving on to the next section. Self-Recording: Try recording yourself while reading the memorization. Listen to the recording to identify errors or areas that need improvement. Using Mushaf: Start your murajaah by looking at the Mushaf (Quranic text) to make sure there are no mistakes. Once you feel confident enough, try murajaah without looking at the mushaf. Variation of Methods: Use various methods for murajaah, such as memorizing aloud, writing down memorized verses, or listening to memorizing recordings by famous qari'. Review with Friends: Invite friends or family to listen and correct your memorization. This can be an effective way to get feedback and improve memorization. Prayer and Strong Intentions: Don't forget to always start murajaah with sincere intentions and pray that Allah makes it easier for you to memorize. Consistency and Patience: Repeating memorization periodically is very important. Don't give up easily if you encounter difficulties, stay consistent and patient. Understanding Tafsir: Understanding the tafsir or meaning of memorized verses can help strengthen memorization and make the murajaah process more meaningful. By following these steps, it is hoped that your memorization of 1 juz will remain strong and remain in your memory.8
